QOMO RELEASES NEW INTERACTIVE WRITING DISPLAY

WIXOM, Michigan--May 4, 2010--QOMO is releasing an addition to QOMO's popular interactive panel series, the QIT500. The display features a 19" widescreen LCD with a 16:10 aspect ratio making it the largest in QOMO's line of interactive panels. The glass surface can be annotated on using the included electromagnetic pen. The QIT500 has a built-in adjustable stand that allows the display to be positioned for viewing convenience. This model sets a new standard for the QOMO Interactive Panel Series.

QOMO's Flow!Works software integrates seamlessly with the new QIT500. The electromagnetic pen can be used to annotate directly over documents and applications as well as independently in the Flow!Works environment. The QIT500 is the perfect tool in combination with Flow!Works to enable teachers and presenters to bring the maximum versatility to their presentations.
